Dear Gotham Team:

We wish to thank you for your consulting work and Project management this year.

Your expertise provided us with the ability to meet our goals and was both timely and valuable. Our goals were both; to ascertain the long term and short term functionality of voice and data infrastructure in anticipation of migration to alternate technologies and to optimize our cost of doing business on IT related costs. We made the decision to engage a project management consulting firm to provide Advisory services in these areas and we were very happy with the results.

Your team was able to conduct a retrospective audit during this engagement which provided our management teams with valuable details on the current services our firm utilizes and a variety of available options for replacement of those services for reductions in cost and technological scalability.

The overall analysis will allow us to reduce our overall costs in excess of $250,000 per year. Wireless savings alone were in excess of $100,000.

The suggestions you made regarding new technology and your experience in the industry, have provided us with the ability to implement new IP services and contracts with “best practices” and significant value.

Sincerely yours,

Marylou Berk
